Bridges in Jefferson, Switzerland damaged

BY BOB DEMAREE
AND MARK CAMPBELL

Flash flooding caused by up to 9 inches of rainfall over a 3 hour period Saturday afternoon swept through eastern Jefferson and western Switzerland counties, resulting in damaged roadways and bridges, power outages, evacuations and the death of 61-year-old Manville woman.

With heavy rain falling over a wide area, the Jefferson County Emergency Management Agency issued a flood advisory at 4:31 p.m. on Saturday and some residents on Brushy Fork Creek began evacuating soon after with water quickly rising.

In the end, all occupants made it out safely except for 61-year-old Linda Lee Wood, of the 8000 block of East Brushy Fork Road. An attempt was apparently made to get Wood to evacuate but she refused and when flood waters swept through her residence on the banks of Brushy Fork Creek she died after being carried several miles downstream by the water.

According to Jefferson County Coroner Rodney Nay, Wood was apparently urged to leave her home at 4:25 p.m., but refused, possibly intimidated by a barking dog. Wood's body was found Sunday morning seven miles downstream under a bridge on East Prong Road.

Nay said the home Wood shared with her husband, Anthony Clyde Wood, was totally destroyed by the rapid water. Anthony Wood was not home at the time of the storm.

"They lost everything. Nothing at all" was left, Nay said.

Residents along Brushy Fork Creek said the flooding was the worst they have ever seen. Trees were uprooted, utility poles were mowed down, pavement was lifted from the roadway, cars were washed down the creek and bridges were washed out and/or clogged with debris.

Family members of Gary Imel, 7567 Brushy Fork Road, said a large propane tank came washing down the creek and hit the bridge just outside his home, later breaking away only to collide with a large tree at one point the valve of the take broke and a large plume of propane shot up through the tree causing a huge white cloud and the strong odor of gas for several hours.

Imel's granddaughter, Taylor Imel, was not home at the time of the flooding but she said the incident was described as a pretty scary — both the flooding and the leaking propane. While surveying the damage, she said she could not believe all the damage considering the creek is where she swim in the summer.

Area residents and sightseers checked out one of the bridges damaged by Saturday's flash flooding on Brushy Fork Road in eastern Jefferson County. Heavy rains dump as much as 9 inches on the surrounding area in just over three hours causing high water to sweep down Brushy Fork and flood everything in its path. A 61-year-old woman died in the flooding and several structures and vehicles were washed down the creek.

Sightseers survey damage and snap pictures of the damage to East Brushy Fork Road from flash flooding Saturday on Brushy Fork Creek in eastern Jefferson County. The water lifted up or undercut pavement, washed out bridge approaches and knocked down or clogged railings with debris.

Mulberry corridor funding gets final approval

Work is part of $2.5M Destination Madison project

BY BOB DEMAREE

Funding for Madison's Mulberry Street Arts Corridor and Neighborhood Market formally received final approval Friday when Our Southern Indiana Regional Development Authority (OurSIRDA) met in Madison.

A total of $879,283.20 was approved for the project, which is part of the city's Destination Madison project that will receive a total of $2,556,200 from the $50 million READI (Regional Economic Acceleration and Development Initiative) grant that was awarded the region from the Indiana Economic Development Corporation (IEDC).

The other funds will go toward the U.S. 421 Gateway project to improve the entry point to the city of Madison and state of Indiana coming off the Milton-Madison bridge from Kentucky.

"The first of our Destination Madison plans are nearing the bidding stage which will allow for the beginning of construction in October," said Madison Mayor Bob Courtney. "We are excited about the investment we are making in our placemaking strategies and for the co-investment through the READI initiative. Investments in our gateway and cultural arts district will attract even more private capital to leverage for tourism, blight elimination, and quality of life efforts."

The Mulberry Mural Arts Corridor will provide enhancements to the parking lot at the northeast corner of Mulberry and Second streets to create seating areas and green space to better highlight the Kindness mural. The project also involves improvements at the Main Street Comfort Station to create 20 parking spaces behind that building.

Austin man charged for child pornography

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Craig Dalton Winchester

Detectives with the Indiana State Police-Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) task force in Sellersburg began an investigation in early August of 2022 after receiving a cyber tip report from the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC).

The tip indicated that a specific internet account had possibly been used to transmit child pornography images or video files.

Investigators requested a search warrant based on information gathered during their investigation. The warrant was executed on Thursday, Sept. 1, when members of the Indiana Internet Crimes Against Children Task Force searched a residence on Spicer Drive in Austin, Indiana.

As a result of the investigation and search, an arrest warrant was issued in Scott County Circuit Court for Craig Craig Dalton Winchester, 27, of Austin. Officers from the Austin Police Department located and arrested Winchester on Friday, Sept. 2. HE was booked at the Scott County Jail in Scottsburg at 6:19 p.m. on Friday and held without bond pending his initial hearing this week.

Winchester is charged with three counts of Child Exploitation, all Level 4 Felonies; and one count of Possession of Child Pornography, a Level 5 Felony. The charges carry a combined maximum prison sentence of 54 year if convicted.

Officers from the Austin Police Department transported Craig Winchester to the custody of the Scott County Jail without incident.

tomatoes from his garden just across the road from where a maroon Jeep Liberty sat on its side lodged in downed trees after being washed down the creek. Lewis now lives near Manville but was born and raised in a house near the garden, and he hasn't seen flooding do so much damage in the area in his 69 years.

"I've seen it bad, but not this bad," he said. "It was pretty devastating."

Aaron Smith, who lives nearby on Dow Ridge Road, said the damage he witnessed on his way home from work at Kentucky Utilities in Ghent, Kentucky — vehicles smashed along the creek, homes damaged and tons of debris — was totally unexpected. "They probably didn't get a quarter-inch (of rain) in Ghent," Smith said. "I knew it was raining over here, but didn't know this was going on."

Troy Morgan Emergency Management Agency Director for Jefferson County said the damage along Brushy Fork Creek was actually from heavy rainfall in northern Switzerland County.

"It's not our rain that did it," he said. "We had three inches or so" but Switzerland County got in excess of nine inches in that short amount of time. "That's where it came from and that sent the rainwater down the Brushy Fork Creek."

Morgan said an initial assessment along East Brushy Fork Road revealed that 20 addresses were involved in the flooding with two homes destroyed and three others sustaining minor damage. He said County Commissioners filed a disaster declaration on Sunday, the first step in the process towards seeking federal assistance to help pay for the damage.

Morgan was back at the scene Monday with Indiana's director of Homeland Security, to tour the area with the Commissioners and further assess the damage. He said most residents in the area should now have electricity but there are some that do not have water due to a water main break that must be repaired by the Canaan Water Department. He said the county highway department is working diligently to clear debris and get roads as passable as possible.

A large propane tank, dislodged further upstream, sits wedged between a tree and a bridge over Brushy Fork Creek in the 7500 block of East Brushy Fork Road in the aftermath of Saturday's flash flooding. Neighbors said the tank crashed into the nearby bridge before breaking free and hitting the tree. At one point the valve of the tank broke, releasing the contents which shot a white cloud of propane gas several feet up into the tree.

Tom Moore, Emergency Management Agency director for Switzerland County, said he is continuing to assess property damage and damage to roads and bridges there. He said there are several structures with damage, and one that was completely destroyed.

"We had no loss of life and no one missing," Moore noted.

The State Road 250 bridge over Indian Creek near Pleasant and Bennington was badly damaged and for a county that is all ready wracked with detours due to numerous bridge repair and replacement projects, the hardship will be felt.

On Monday morning, the Jefferson County Highway Department announced three roads closed due to bridges being damaged — Bridge 103 on Brushy Fork Road between the 7500 block of Brushy Fork Road and McCarty Hill Road, Bridge 154 on Dow Ridge Road between Brushy Fork Road and Tate Ridge Road and Bridge 53 on Brushy Fork Road Between Sugan Hollow Road and Tate Ridge Road. All will be closed for an indefinite period of time.

In a press release, the Jefferson County Highway Department stated that several county road are passable but are still in need of more work and crews will be out in the upcoming days working to get roads back in order.

Sightseers and vehicles gather at a road closure sign in the 8700 block of East Brushy Fork Road where flash flooding took out a bridge Saturday. The bridge is about 2.5 miles downstream from where a resident was washed from her home and died in the flooding.

Morgan asked that residents avoid the East Brushy Fork Road area. "There are utilities, electricians, water, highway and more out there" doing work, and that as people go out there they get in the way of that getting done.

Morgan said all of the bridges in the area will need to be inspected, even those that may outwardly appear OK.

Responding agencies in Jefferson County included the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office, Indiana Conservation Office Jefferson County Highway Department, Jefferson County Coroner's Office, Jefferson County Emergency Communications, Jefferson County Emergency Management Agency, and the fire departments from Canaan and Madison.

Funeral arrangements for Linda Lee Wood will be announced by the Morgan & Nay Funeral Centres of Madison and Hanover, www.morgan-nay.com.

ARTS

"She's just a real good facilitator and is good at digging out what we should be doing," Nyberg said of Peterson.

Commission member Eric Phagan said he likes that Peterson "already knows the community, and knows where we started and where we are going."

Steinhardt outlined expectations for Peterson's work. He said the consultant will begin with an initial meeting to clarify the commission's goals for the project and the characteristics of the guidelines, along with overall goals for Madison's public arts. After that, the consultant will identify five to 10 communities as examples, conduct working sessions with the arts commission to extract key provisions, identify gaps that might be missing and create a working draft of the guidelines to be considered and revised. Additionally, the consultant will be involved in public meetings to provide information — one early in the process to identify hopes and concerns with another for review of the draft — and when that's all done the consultant will facilitate the final approval process.

Nyberg anticipates work involving the consultant will take four to six months, and during that there will be working sessions for the public arts commission. "We want to take the ample time we need to make it right," she said. "So, just know that over the next six months we'll probably have some nice working sessions."

Steinhardt provided an update that the crosswalks at Crestwood Drive and Michigan Road for the Shoppes of Sunrise Crossing development will include art designed by Madison students. He said there will also be an opportunity for art on a switch box cover as a part of the project.

Randy Lakeman, treasurer of the Madison Area Arts Alliance (MAAA), announced that seven of the downtown switch boxes will be rewrapped this fall with new art. The ARTsy switch boxes will be located along Main Street at Walnut, Jefferson, Mulberry, West, Mill and Cragmont streets. Each wrap will feature area artists from a public call for art earlier this year. Artists selected for the new wraps are Melissa Porter, Britta Hess, Linda Wood, Tanner Little and Aaron Kelsey with two additional art pieces selected from existing artwork honoring MAAA founder Bob Saueressig and a commemorative community painting from a recent Madison event.

The ARTsy switch box project was started by MAAA in 2018 and boxes are located at traffic signals both on Madison's downtown and hilltop, transforming plain traffic signal boxes into works of art.

Nyberg said replacing the art on the switch boxes is something that needs to be done periodically because weather conditions cause the art wraps to deteriorate. She said the original plan was to change them every 18 months, but they've actually been there for 36 months, and now is time to replace them.

Nyberg, who is also MAAA executive director, said even though she's sad the existing ones have deteriorated to the point it's time to take them down, "I'm excited. The new ones are good, they're really good, and they're different."

Nyberg said MAAA's board of directors are doing the switch box project as a courtesy to the public arts commission, particularly since guidelines have not yet been established.

"I think it is important to say these are the kinds of things that would ultimately come in front of this commission as we move forward, ensuring we have public art that we approve is appropriate and meets the guidelines," along with identifying locations, Steinhardt said.

The Destination Madison funding was approved at last month's meeting of OurSIRDA but all projects must also received IEDC approval before coming back to the region for a final endorsement.

Cory Cochran, executive director of the River Hills Economic Development District that was hired by the RDA to help steer the projects towards implementation, said both the U.S. 421 Gateway project and the Veterinary Teaching School at Hanover College and Ivy Tech Madison are close to IEDC approval as is the Charlestown wastewater treatment project.

At Friday's meeting, OurSIRDA voted to allow projects approved by the IEDC before next month's meeting to proceed with agreements for work to begin. "We have monthly meetings and will allow those projects to get traction work before our next meeting so it's speeding up the process," said board member Steve Meyer, who represents Scott County.

OurSIRDA attorney Greg Fifer said the projects will still be formally ratified by the region at its next meeting but expediting projects with IEDC approval "is an opportunity to eliminate slippage of time."

Other projects receiving final RDA approval Friday were the Origin Park project from Clark County and the town of Clarksville for $8,305,000; the ONE Fund, $125,000; and Align Southern Indiana Regional Trails, a collaboration among Clark, Floyd, Harrison, Scott and Washington Counties, $70,000. Presentations to funding for four other projects were given with initial RDA approvals for all.

- In Floyd County, the Nova Parke Innovation and Technology Campus was approved for $4.2 million. The project, under development in Edwardsville, is designed to offer space for research, technology, development and entrepreneurial companies.
- In New Albany the South Monon Freedom Trail $4,070,000 towards the purchase of CSX railway right of way from New Albany to Bedford as the first step in creating a South Monon Freedom Trail.
- In New Albany the Market Street Commons affordable housing development received $2.4 million.
- In Borden the Star Valley Destinations received $500,000.

In August, the RDA tabled a $1,500,000 project for a Borden-Sellersburg-Star Valley sewer project but will discuss the proposal further this week. "We're having a meeting next Wednesday with all stakeholders and hopefully have a lengthy discussion to determine to figure what's best for region there," Cochran said.

Cochran said the IEDC has requested that all regions allocate their funds by June of 2023. In order to ensure that happens, the OurSIRDA board members agreed Friday to require a notification that the projects are moving forward by the end of December.

"Every project lead we are communicating with on a daily or weekly basis," Cochran said. "I don't foresee this as an issue but I do think we need to have something in place if this problem arises" so there isn't concern if a project isn't moving forward by spring with limited time get those funds allocated.

Cochran also noted that OurSIRDA is actually ahead of other regions in that funds are already being allocated. "Several other regions, especially those that received $50 million, don't anticipate obligating their funds until February," he said. "So, we're ahead of the game. So, we're in good shape. But we need to stay as the lead horse in this race, and continue on that path."

OurSIRDA rotates its meeting throughout the region's five counties and Friday's meeting was held at Madison City Hall. Next month's meeting will be on Friday, Oct. 7, at Mid-American Science Park in Scottsburg.

In 1943, 79 people were killed when a New York-bound Pennsylvania Railroad train derailed and crashed in Philadelphia.

In 1949, Howard Unruh, a resident of Camden, New Jersey, shot and killed 13 of his neighbors. (Found to have paranoid schizophrenia, Unruh was confined for the rest of his life; he died in a Trenton nursing home in 2009 at age 88.)

In 1972, the Summer Olympics resumed in Munich, West Germany, a day after the deadly hostage crisis that left eleven Israelis and five Arab abductors dead.

In 1975, 18-year-old tennis star Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia, in New York for the U.S. Open, requested political asylum in the United States.

In 1997, a public funeral was held for Princess Diana at Westminster Abbey in London, six days after her death in a car crash in Paris. In Calcutta, India, weeping masses gathered to pay homage to Mother Teresa, who had died the day before at age 87.

In 2006, President George W. Bush acknowledged for the first time that the CIA was running secret prisons overseas and said tough interrogation had forced terrorist leaders to reveal plots to attack the United States and its allies.

In 2007, opera star Luciano Pavarotti died in Modena, Italy, at the age of 71.

In 2018, the agent for actor Burt Reynolds confirmed that Reynolds, known for his roles in "Deliverance," "The Cannonball Run" and "Smokey and the Bandit," had died at the age of 82.

Ten years ago: President Barack Obama conceded only halting progress toward solving the nation's economic woes, but vowed in a Democratic National Convention finale, "Our problems can be solved, our challenges can be met." Drew Peterson, the former Illinois police officer who gained notoriety after his much-younger wife, Stacy, vanished in 2007, was convicted of murdering a previous wife, Kathleen Savio. (Peterson was later sentenced to 38 years in prison.)

Five years ago: Hurricane Irma, the most powerful hurricane ever recorded in the Atlantic, pounded Puerto Rico with heavy rain and powerful winds; authorities said more than 900,000 people were without power. A California parole panel recommended parole for Leslie Van Houten, who at 19 was the youngest of Charles Manson's murderous followers in 1969. (California Gov. Jerry Brown later blocked her release.) Pope Francis was welcomed by jubilant crowds along the road from the airport into Bogota, Colombia, where he encouraged Colombians to reconcile after five decades of armed rebellion. Two French companies among the world's biggest makers of luxury goods, including the owners of brands like Dior and Gucci, agreed to stop working with fashion models who were unhealthily thin.

The Taliban said they had seized the last Afghan province that hadn't been in their control after their blitz through the country in August. Actor Michael K. Williams, best known for his role on "The Wire," was found dead in his New York apartment; he was 54. (A medical examiner found that Williams had died of acute drug intoxication.) TODAY IN HISTORY

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHT IN HISTORY:

On Sept. 7, 1940, Nazi Germany began its eight-month blitz of Britain during World War II with the first air attack on London.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1901, the Peace of Beijing ended the Boxer Rebellion in China.

In 1943, a fire at the Gulf Hotel, a rooming house in Houston, claimed 55 lives.

In 1968, feminists protested outside the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City, N.J. (The pageant crown went to Miss Illinois Judith Ford.)

In 1977, the Panama Canal treaties, calling for the U.S. to eventually turn over control of the waterway to Panama, were signed in Washington by President Jimmy Carter and Panamanian leader Omar Torrijos (toh-REE'-hohs).

In 1986, Desmond Tutu was installed as the first Black clergyman to lead the Anglican Church in southern Africa.

In 1996, rapper Tupac Shakur was shot and mortally wounded on the Las Vegas Strip; he died six days later.

In 2005, police and soldiers went house to house in New Orleans to try to coax the last stubborn holdouts into leaving the city shattered by Hurricane Katrina.

In 2007, Osama bin Laden appeared in a video for the first time in three years, telling Americans they should convert to Islam if they wanted the war in Iraq to end.

In 2008, troubled mortgage giants Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac were placed in government conservatorship.

In 2015, Hillary Clinton, interviewed by The Associated Press during a campaign swing through Iowa, said she did not need to apologize for using a private email account and server while at the State Department because "what I did was allowed."

In 2019, President Donald Trump said he had canceled a secret weekend meeting at Camp David with Taliban and Afghan leaders, just days before the anniversary of the Sept. 11 attacks, after a bombing in Kabul that killed 12 people, including an American soldier.

In 2020, India's increasing coronavirus caseload made the Asian giant the world's second-worst-hit country behind the United States.

Ten years ago: The Labor Department reported that employers added just 96,000 jobs in August 2012, down from 141,000 in July; the dismal finding prompted Republican presidential nominee Mitt Romney to say, "We're going in the wrong direction," while President Barack Obama, fresh off his nomination for a second term in office, said: "We know it's not good enough." Dorothy McGuire Williamson, 84, who teamed with sisters Christine and Phyllis as the popular McGuire Sisters, died in Paradise Valley, Arizona.

Five years ago: More than a half million people were ordered to leave South Florida as Hurricane Irma approached, while Georgia's governor ordered nearly 540,000 coastal residents to move inland. One of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded in Mexico struck off the country's southern coast, toppling hundreds of buildings and killing at least 90 people. (A deadlier quake would strike central Mexico nearly two weeks later.) Donald Trump Jr. told a Senate panel that he did not collude with Russia to hurt Hillary Clinton's campaign. Equifax, one of the three major U.S. credit bureaus, announced that hackers had gained access to credit information on 143 million Americans.

One year ago: More than 400,0000 homes and businesses in Louisiana remained without power, nine days after Hurricane Ida hit; more than half of the gas stations in New Orleans and Baton Rouge were without fuel. Louisiana health officials revoked the licenses of nursing homes that had evacuated residents to a warehouse where seven of the residents died amid squalid conditions. The Taliban announced an all-male interim government for Afghanistan stacked with veterans of their hard-line rule from the 1990s. The widow of the late Robert F. Kennedy said his assassin, Sirhan Sirhan, should not be released from prison; the statement further roiled a family divide over whether Sirhan should get parole for the 1968 killing. (In January 2022, California Gov. Gavin Newsom rejected a recommendation from a two-person panel of parole commissioners that Sirhan be released.)

Today's Birthdays: Jazz musician Sonny Rollins is 92. Singer Gloria Gaynor is 79. Singer Alfa Anderson (Chic) is 76. Actor Susan Blakely is 74. Rock musician Dennis Thompson (MC5) is 74. Two facing drug charges

Madison Police served a search warrant at a home in the 800 block of Lanier Drive that led to two arrests on drug related charges last week.

Sydney Mikesell, 25, Madison, was charged with Possession of Methamphetamine, a Level 6 felony, and Possession of Paraphernalia, a Class C misdemeanor. Dylan Prosser, 35, Madison, was charged with Maintaining a Common Nuisance, a Level 6 felony, and Possession of Paraphernalia, a Class C misdemeanor.

Madison Police Officers Cameron Blankenship and Zachary Nicholson served the arrest warrant that had been issued in conjunction with a previous narcotics case.

Man injured in UTV crash

First responders were dispatched at approximately 10:55 p.m. to the area of the 1900 block of Dugan Hollow Road in Madison.

Upon arrival, it was determined that Brent Vanwye, 31, of Madison, was operating his side-by-side ORV when he lost control on a curve and left the roadway and became entrapped.

Vanwye was extracted from the vehicle and transported to Norton King's Daughters' Health in serious condition.

It was determined that Vanwye was wearing his safety harness at the time of the accident but was not wearing a helmet.

Indiana Conservation Officers are continuing to investigate. Assisting agencies include Jefferson County Sheriff's Office, Madison Police Department, King's Daughters' Health EMS; Rykers Ridge Fire Department; and Madison City Rescue.

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

An extra point off the foot of Clint Hearne proved to be the difference as Madison football edged Carroll County 7-6 in Carrollton on Friday.

The first gridiron meeting between the two schools since 1982 — and just second ever — was a defensive struggle from beginning to end as the two teams combined for less than 400 total yards.

In the end, it was Madison's ability to collect an extra point after a touchdown that gave the Cubs their first win of the season, and lowest-scoring win since 2005.

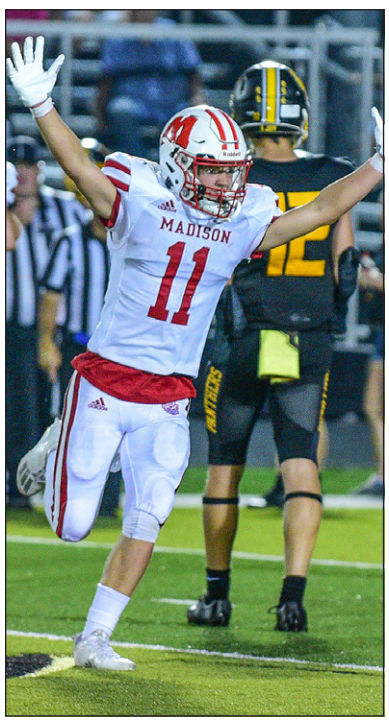
"They did a phenomenal job in a hard-fought win. Special teams flipped the field and the defense stepped up big," Madison coach Leroy Wilson said. "The defense has played well for three games and we finally got over the offensive hump and found the end zone. There's still a lot of work to do on that side, but we finally made some plays on offense and guys are building a little bit of confidence."

Both teams scored their only points in the first half. Carroll County (0-3) went nearly the length of the field to score its lone touchdown — 83 yards on 14 plays — culminating in a 29 yard touchdown pass from Parker Mumphrey to Payton Williams with 40 seconds left in the first quarter. But the Panthers were stuffed on their two-point conversion try, a miss that proved fatal.

Carroll County reached inside the Madison 20 only one more time in the game as the Cub defense clamped down tight. Wilson said the Panthers surprised them with their run-heavy game plan early on, but they were able to adjust.

"That long drive they went into a double tight set with three backs, which we hadn't seen yet. I mean they were a 76% pass team on film so that surprised us," Wilson said. "But our defense held their own. We did give a score on that drive, but same time, the extra point was huge."

Madison (1-2) answered early in the second quarter when James Schafer took a screen pass, broke two tackles and outraced the Carroll defense to the end zone for a 40-yard score to tie the game. Hearne, a junior on loan from the soccer team, then smashed the extra point through the uprights for the go-ahead — and game-winning — score.



Chloe Preocanin

Madison's Trenton Bivens (11) celebrates after grabbing an interception in the Cubs' 7-6 win over Carroll County on Friday night in Carrollton, Kentucky.

The two teams spent the remaining 32 minutes of the game trying to score again to no avail. Each turned the ball over deep in enemy territory and neither truly threatened. Madison got close enough to attempt a Hearne field goal early in the fourth quarter, but a penalty blew up the drive.

In the end, it was defense that carried the day for both teams. Madison finished with 195 total yards, nearly equally divided between the ground and air. Senior running back Van Skinner rushed for 76 yards on 17 carries while quarterback Darius Jay threw for 94 yards on 5-of-19 passing with one interception.

Carroll was only slightly better, getting 218 total yards. Zayn Satchwell collected 64 yards on 19 carries while Mumphrey was 13-of-23 passing for 96 yards and was picked off three times.

Defensively, Colin Yancey had a huge game for Madison with 13 tackles — six solo — an interception and a pass broken up. Schafer had nine tackles and a sack, Taytem Anderson had nine tackles, and Cameron Wall had eight tackles. Trenton Bivens and Dalton Mitchell each had interceptions.

Chloe Preocanin

Carroll County players mob teammate Payton Williams after he scored a touchdown in the Panthers' 7-6 loss to Madison on Friday.

David Campbell

Carroll County's Owen Stark tackles Madison's Van Skinner (25) during Friday's game in Carrollton.

"Last week's loss by three points was a learning experience because we learned tonight how to finish," Wilson said. "We came up with a new mentality that we've got to finish this one, regardless of how it works and they did it. They finished 48 minutes of football. All you need is one more point than the other team."

Madison hits the road again this week when it travels to Milan (0-3) before hosting Jennings County (1-2) in two weeks.

Carroll County stays home and will take on Grant County (0-3) this week before traveling to Ludlow (2-0) next week.

Madison's James Schafer (21) sprints down the sidelines past two Carroll County defenders on his way to the end zone during Friday's game in Carrollton, Kentucky.

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Trimble County scored 22 unanswered points in the second half to knock off Switzerland County 22-3 for its first win of the season.

The visiting Pacers (2-1) got a 30-yard field goal from Cooper Todd late in the second quarter and held that margin until the third when Trimble County broke through for a three-yard touchdown run and a two-point conversion to take an 8-3 lead.

The Raiders then added two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter — and one conversion — for the final margin as Switzerland was unable to get its offense in gear.

"We have been talking about how we needed to shore up our deficiencies on offense and special teams in order to not lose close games, but unfortunately, we still turned the ball over three times in the second half which turned the momentum we had coming into the second half against us," Switzerland coach Ryan Jesop said. "I was proud of how hard our boys played against a much bigger team, but we have to limit our own mistakes to give us a chance moving forward into our season."

Trimble County (2-1) had 267 total offensive yards in the game to just 76 by Switzerland County. Jessup Smith rushed for 110 yards and a score on 23 carries to lead the Raiders while Kaden May had 57 yards rushing and a score and James Thomas Wilcoxson had 52 yards and a touchdown.

Matthew Davis led Switzerland County with 33 yards on 3-of-12 passing and 16 yards on 10 rushing attempts. Tyler Hoskins had 15 yards on three rushes and caught two passes for 22 yards.

Collin Tolliver had five tackles and Wilcoxson had five tackles, one for a loss, to lead Trimble defensively. Sam Galloway had an interception and Zachary Hemingway and Jerry Nevils each had a fumble recovery.

Gabe Rose had six tackles and Hoskins and Gavin Reese each had five for Switzerland County.

Switzerland County hosts Edinburgh (3-0) on Friday and travels back across the Ohio River the following week to take on Owen County.

Trimble County hosts Bracken County (2-0) this Friday and goes to Louisville Shawnee (0-3) next week.

Rally falls short as Panthers lose to Centre, 31-29

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A late Hanover rally fell just short and the Panthers lost a 31-29 heartbreaker to Centre College in Sunday's weather-delayed football opener in Hanover.

Storms and heavy rains on Saturday forced the game to be suspended late in the third quarter with Hanover leading 13-10. When the two teams got back to the field Sunday afternoon, Centre quickly scored three touchdowns to take a 31-16 lead.

Hanover put up a fight, getting a 5-yard touchdown pass from Matthew Weimer to Hunter Eads early in the fourth quarter, then scored again with 43 seconds left on a 13-yard pass from Weimer to Jalen Peck to close the gap to two.

However, the Panthers were unable to cover the onside kick, ending the game.

Weimer, a senior from Floyd Central, threw for 292 yards and three touchdowns, but was also intercepted four times in the game. He led the team on the ground with 52 rushing yards.

Eads caught five passes for 102 yards and two touchdowns while V.J. Anthony had three catches for 81 yards.

Hanover, now 0-1 on the season, travels to Adrian, Michigan on Saturday.

Stephanie Hellmann

Hanover's Hunter Eads (11) comes down with a touchdown catch over Centre's Joshua White during the Panthers' 31-29 loss on Saturday and Sunday. Daughter's bullying experience affects mom's

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: My 18-year-old daughter was kicked out of her friend group for being "too annoying" last fall, at the start of her senior year.

Her mental health plummeted as a result of this rejection and isolation, so she finished her senior year online and has been receiving therapy ever since.

She has college plans, and we are all trying to move forward after this painful year.

I was friendly with two of the mothers in this group, and they clearly don't accept that their daughters had any responsibility in the situation.

One in particular is clueless about how her daughter treated mine despite this behavior going on for years.

This mom has tried to maintain a friendly online rapport with me, but I cannot stomach the idea of socializing with her and pretending as if her daughter didn't have a role in bullying mine out of school.

I am concerned that I may be facing social engagements where she is present, given our mutual connection and the fact that she lives nearby.

How can I get past this issue peacefully without more drama for myself or my family?

— Had Enough

Dear Had Enough: You state that these mothers are "clueless" about their daughters' bullying behavior, and if they are truly clueless, then perhaps they should be told about it.

However, I believe it would help you to ask yourself with intent what you would like from these other women. Do you want them to acknowledge that their daughters bullied your daughter? Would you like them to apologize?

Further — prepare yourself for an unsatisfying response.

You might contact mother you are most concerned about privately. This mother might be defensive, aggressive, concerned, apologetic, embarrassed or silent.

The reason for you to engage privately is so you can move forward publicly with more confidence, having been honest.

Hoarder in the house causes stress

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: My spouse (D) and I have been happily married (second marriages) for 25 years. We have adult children and grandchildren and are a very happy family.

D is a paper hoarder. It accumulates in big piles because D is unable to make decisions.

D's small office is a labyrinth of paper piles that fall over and slither across the floor. The bookshelves are packed.

Bringing this up elicits a lot of anger or passive resistance.

We have hired organizers, but my experience is that the current piles get thinned and filed (slowly and over days), but there is no concurrent re-training, and the piles just grow again.

D experiences a lot of frustration when needed stuff can't be found, and often important documents or mail disappear into the piles, with bills not being paid, etc.

I need advice on how to help with this and to protect myself and our house from the paper avalanche. I worry about fire and bugs, but more about D's happiness.

— Buried

Dear Buried: You and D should switch all of your accounts to have online access, in order to have your bill paying, utilities, banking, and retirement accounts accessible to both of you at all times — and paperless. This will decrease the amount of paper coming into the house, and should keep both of you on track with bill paying — greatly reducing frustration.

Hoarding as a serious challenge. Some hoarders respond to a "harm reduction" strategy, versus a focus on simply getting rid of things: "I'm worried about fire. Can we work together to reduce the paper by one-third to reduce the risk to our house?"

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Get pumped up about romantic outings and social gatherings. You may be enthused about being the center of attention. Every shopping spree may be a challenge to see who finds the most unusual items.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Mix-ups and misunderstandings may occur if you change your plans abruptly without giving anyone adequate notice. It would be best to hold off on making major business decisions that can impact your home and family.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Your motives might be as pure as newly fallen snow, but some people may misinterpret your meaning — most people unknowingly project themselves onto others. Dramatic gestures could fall flat so avoid giving the wrong impression.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — A temporary slump in the atmosphere can lead to brief disenchantment. It might be in your best interests to maintain a low profile and avoid stirring up controversy. Act on impulses that inspire your happiness.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Be aware that there are limitations to goodwill. Be cautious when presented with a standoff due to a difference of opinion. Shoulder your responsibilities without complaining or trying to lighten your burdens.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Understand your power base to leverage it effectively. Enjoy meeting new and exciting people but do not expect the same feelings of good fellowship to dominate the more businesslike workplace scene.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Exciting fantasies might seem better than the real thing. You may be so enamored by your daydreams that you could be annoyed by friends or coworkers who surprise you with facts. Get real with your expectations.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Things can vary somewhat and still be fundamentally solid. Even if there is a temporarily tense family situation, you don't need to worry; all should resolve and return things to a high level of affection at home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — It may be difficult to pin someone down. You might not be sure of someone's feelings or see a family issue clearly. Trust that everything should go as planned even if there are some bumps in the road.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Go slow and do plenty of homework; making quick financial decisions could prove costly. It is wise to walk away briefly and give yourself a "grace period" to cool off before making a large investment or key purchase.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Pause before you play. The timing may feel off for you now and other people may appear to have better strategies, so bide your time. Let someone else have all the glory for now and rest assured your time will come.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Your reactions to someone may be fueled by romantic fantasies. If you project your wishful thinking on a new companion, you might end up disappointed. Discuss key issues and develop profound insights.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Your joy could fizz like a bottle of champagne if you become the center of attention. Allow yourself to enjoy more prestige, fun and romance. Don't overlook an obligation to a friend or a requirement on the job.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — You may believe you should get by on star-power and impressive selfies and work to stand out on social media. You're more likely to enjoy the new friends you'll make by just being your authentic self..

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Last can be the very best. Your more impulsive friends may change their minds quickly while you are still digesting the latest information at your leisure. Someone may pressure you to make a quick decision.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — You can have your heart's desire. However, you are wise enough to know that the instant gratification of your desires does not always lead to harmony with others. Make a bucket list of all your favorite goals.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You may have an urge to follow up on a get-rich scheme. Think long and hard before investing your hard-earned money or your heart on something that is likely to be just a dream. Prove you can live up to your commitments.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You can easily attract attention and favorable publicity so try to be on your best behavior. Your enhanced social skills may give you the ability to instill trust. However, you can be led astray by an excess of wishful thinking.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Attract attention with personal magnetism rather than glamour or spin. Be that quality person — true character and high ethics will always win out over optics. Ask for assistance so you can achieve a worthy goal.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Expect the unexpected. Even if someone means well, you may need to rethink your plans if they change their mind. Concentrate on fulfilling your job commitments and keeping your promises in the workplace.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Use your individual flair to complete a task or project with style. You can make a breakthrough by giving in to your creative instincts. Adapt to a changeful environment by using your own best judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — You will be happier with outcomes if you always take the high road. Don't imagine that the grass is greener on the other side of the fence or that a financial scheme is worthwhile. Say "no" to risky investment proposals.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Rely on teamwork to get things moving in the right direction — it can take a village. Even if you feel that you are going around in circles, keep on and trust that your focus and persistence can pay off with time.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Your prospects may be undermined by wishful thinking; a loved one or family member might have a more down-to-earth perspective on a situation. Avoid wasting time or money on unrealistic scenarios.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRSS

CINCINNATI — Aristides Aquino hit his first career grand slam an inning after entering as an injury replacement and the Cincinnati Reds beat the Colorado Rockies 10-0 Sunday to split a doubleheader.

The Rockies won the opener 8-4. Charlie Blackmon's pinch-hit, two-run single highlighted a four-run seventh and C.J. Cron hit his 25th homer.

Aquino got into the game as the designated hitter in the fifth when Jonathan India exited after fouling a pitch of his right foot. Aquino's fifth home run of the season came off Chad Smith with two outs in the sixth.

India went 0 for 3, ending his career-best hitting streak at 16 games. He homered in the opener.

Colorado was trying for its first doubleheader sweep since doing it against the Reds in 2014. A rainout Saturday forced this twinbill.

Reds starter Chase Anderson only lasted 2 2/3 innings, walking four. But four Cincinnati relievers combined to allow only four hits the rest of the way.

Derek Law (2-1) got the win.

TJ Friedl went 2 for 4 after hitting two home runs in the opener for the Reds.

Rockies starter German Marquez (8-10) gave up just one hit through the first five innings — Friedl's solo homer to lead off the fourth. Friedl went deep off Marquez again in the sixth for his first career multi-home run game, making the score 2-0.

It was Friedl's fifth homer since being recalled on Aug. 16. He's the first Reds batter this season to homer twice off the same pitcher.

Reds rookie left-hander Nick Lodolo tied a career high with nine strikeouts over six scoreless innings. He allowed only two hits and left with a two-run lead.

REDS 3, ROCKIES 2 (Friday) — Jonathan India drove in Spencer Steer from third base with a game-ending chopper against Colorado's five-man infield, sending the Cincinnati Reds past the Rockies 3-2 on Friday night.

Steer, who hit his first career home run in the fifth in his major league debut, led off the ninth with a double against Alex Colomé (2-7) and went to third on a one-out wild pitch. Jake Fraley was intentionally walked and took second on fielder's indifference.

The Rockies moved into the stacked infield with three fielders on the left side. India hit a bouncer up the middle that shifted center fielder Garrett Hampson caught on the grass in front of second base, but he had no play on Steer. India was credited with a single.

BY HOWARD FENDRICH
AP TENNIS WRITER

NEW YORK — After all of the many tributes to Serena Williams were done, the celebratory words and the video montages, the standing ovations and the shouts of her name, it seemed appropriate that she herself would provide the defining look at her legacy.

So the last question at the news conference after her last match of the U.S. Open — and, it seems clear, of her career — offered Williams the chance to say how she'd most like to be remembered.

"I feel like I really brought something, and bring something, to tennis. The different looks. The fist pumps. The just crazy intensity. ... 'Passion,' I think, is a really good word. Just continuing through ups and downs," she responded Friday night. "I could go on and on. But I just honestly am so grateful that I had this moment — and that I'm Serena."

That captures so much about her so well.

And to think: Williams, who turns 41 this month, did not even mention anything about being an elite athlete or any of the statistics that help define what she did with a racket in her hand.

The 23 championships at the Grand Slam tournaments that have come to define success in her sport. Another 50 singles titles elsewhere. The 14 majors in doubles with her sister, Venus. The 319 weeks at No. 1. The four Olympic gold medals.

So, sure, it's impossible to assess Williams without considering her place in the pantheon of superstars, as worthy as anyone — woman or man, this generation or any other, this sport or any other — of the honorific "Greatest of All Time" (one clever spectator at Williams' 7-5, 6-7 (4), 6-1 loss to Ajla Tomljanovic held up a poster with, simply, a drawing of a goat).

"She is an all-time great. Obviously, that's an understatement," said Martina Navratilova, an 18-time major winner who certainly is part of that whole conversation.

But Williams is also about a lot more than that.

No Black woman had won a Slam title since Althea Gibson in the 1950s until Williams came along and collected her first at the 1999 U.S. Open at age 17. Over the more than two decades since, Williams and Venus, who earned seven major singles trophies of her own, get credit for inspiring Coco Gauff and Naomi Osaka and countless of others to play tennis, yes, but also for pushing plenty of others to change their views about what can be done and what can't.

"She embodies that no dream is too big," Tomljanovic said. "You can do anything if you believe in yourself, you love what you do and you have an incredible support system around you."

There's more.

She won a Grand Slam title while pregnant, went through scary health complications after giving birth to her daughter, Olympia, in 2017, and would return to the tour and reach four more major finals.

No. 20 Kentucky routs Miami (Ohio), Stoops ties wins record

BY GARY B. GRAVES
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEXINGTON — Ahead but inconsistent after 30 minutes of play, No. 20 Kentucky needed just 62 seconds to right things and earn a significant win for coach Mark Stoops.

Barion Brown returned the second-half kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown, Keidron Smith's fumble return less than a minute later set up another score and the Wildcats pulled away to beat Miami (Ohio) 37-13 on Saturday night in the opener for both teams.

Stoops' 60th victory tied him with Paul "Bear" Bryant as the Wildcats' winningest coach after 10 seasons with the program. Kentucky's longest-tenured coach was happy to win but downplayed the milestone afterward, as he had all week.

"You can't put my name in the same (sentence) as Bear Bryant's," Stoops said. "Let's compete for six national championships, talk about that. But I am grateful to win that many games, to be here this long."

Kentucky certainly needed those game-changing plays to make this win possible for Stoops after leading only 13-10 at halftime behind several missed opportunities deep in Miami territory.

The Wildcats quickly snatched momentum after the break as Brown dashed left, found a seam and turned the corner down the sideline for the big score just 13 seconds in. That TD included replay drama as the freshman appeared to let go of the football as he crossed the goal line. It was confirmed, putting Kentucky up by 10.

"I wasn't nervous, but was down on myself for doing that," Brown said of his return. "It felt great knowing I made a big play to help the offense and defense."

Tyrell Ajian then came up big on Miami's ensuing possession to force Jaylon Bester's fumble that Smith returned 23 yards to the 8. Will Levis hit Chauncey Magwood with an 8-yard scoring pass two later for a 27-10 cushion. Matt Ruffalo added a 50-yard field goal and Levis tossed a 1-yard scoring pass to Dane Key and finished with 303 yards passing and three TDs and an interception.

"We did some good things at times," Stoops added. "Had some drives and didn't capitalize. A lot of things to improve on."

Virginia Tech transfer Tayvion Robinson supplied Kentucky's other chunk plays, catching six passes for a career-high 136 yards in his Wildcats debut. His first touch went for 45 yards to set up Levis' 6-yard TD pass to Brenden Bates on the Wildcats' first possession to tie it at 7.

Miami managed to tie the game at 10 and stifled Kentucky at times in the first half but only managed Graham Nicholson's 27-yard field goal midway through the third quarter. Tyre Shelton scored the Redhawks' lone TD with a 22-yard run on their opening drive. Brett Gabbert completed 20 of 28 passes for 166 yards before leaving the game late with what coach Chuck Martin said was a non-throwing arm injury.

Kentucky outgained the Mid-American Conference school 353-290.

"We came in ready to play, ready to win," Martin said. "But those first couple of minutes (of the second half), you can't afford to do that against an SEC team."

The Wildcats played without leading rusher Chris Rodriguez, who Stoops said was unavailable along with linebacker Jordan Wright without being specific. The coach added that Rodriguez and other players could face multi-game suspensions next week for undisclosed reasons.

IMPRESSIVE DEBUTS

Newcomers factored big for Kentucky, which used at least a dozen freshmen along with several transfers. Brown and Keidron Smith provided the turning points, but Tayvion Robinson set the scene with two 40-yard receptions and 103 yards after the catch.

"I came here to be a playmaker," Robinson said. "Felt good to let people see what I could do (on the first play). Barion said he was going to get one. I told him to hang on to the ball a bit longer."

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

BLOOMINGTON — Connor Bazelak wanted a fresh start at Indiana.

He couldn't have made a stronger first impression.

The Hoosiers new starting quarterback threw one touchdown pass then finished the game by leading his team on a 75-yard drive, capped by Shaun Shivers's 1-yard touchdown run with 23 seconds left to give Indiana a stunning 23-20 victory over Illinois on Friday night.

"That's who he is, he's extremely poised and it showed when you have to find an open receiver and show some poise," coach Tom Allen said. "He just did what we needed to do. The bottom line, last time I checked, is we got more points than they did."

No, it wasn't pretty and it certainly didn't go according to script.

But after eight straight losses and going winless in Big Ten play last year, this season and conference opener meant plenty for the Hoosiers and Bazelak, who transferred from Missouri. It was a relief.

"I know I wasn't here last year, but these guys had a bad taste in their mouth," Bazelak said. "I'm just excited we got a win tonight, 1-0."

Bazelak was 28-of-52 passing for 330 yards and he was incredibly efficient when Indiana got the ball at its 25-yard line with 2:16 to play, down 20-16.

It was a frustrating finish for the Illini, who took the lead early in the third quarter and didn't trail again until Shivers' scoring run.

Chase Brown ran for 199 yards, becoming the first Illinois player to start a season with consecutive 100-yard games since 1944. Tommy DeVito also threw two touchdown passes for Illinois (1-1, 0-1).

Still, it wasn't enough in a slugfest that included Brown losing one of two fumbles, multiple players being injured and a series of replay reviews that brought the second half to a stalemate. It featured just one score — DeVito's go-ahead 16-yard TD pass to Brian Hightower early in the third quarter — until the final 2 1/2 minutes.

And there were plenty of missed opportunities including Indiana's goal-line stand in the fourth quarter. The Hoosiers stopped Brown on three straight runs and coach Bret Bielema blamed himself.

"That fourth-down call, that's on me to make a better decision. I thought we could go up two scores and obviously we failed," he said. "This is something we have to adjust. It's plan and simple. It's the No. 1 thing we have to eradicate from this program. Before you can win, you've got to prevent yourself from losing."

No. 2 Ohio State wears down No. 5 Notre Dame 21-10

BY RALPH D. RUSSO
AP COLLEGE FOOTBALL WRITER

COLUMBUS, Ohio — With its vaunted offense bogged down, No. 2 Ohio State leaned on its revamped defense in a top-five opener against a former Buckeye that tested its toughness.

C.J. Stroud threw two touchdown passes and Ohio State shut out No. 5 Notre Dame over the final 42 minutes in a gritty 21-10 victory on Saturday night.

"The story of the night was the defense, to turn around and play the way they did after what's been said about them in the offseason, questioning their toughness, and play the way they did against the No. 5 team in the country ... I thought the energy was off the charts for the defense tonight," Ohio State coach Ryan Day said.

The first regular-season meeting of the storied programs since 1996 was a homecoming for first-year Notre Dame coach Marcus Freeman. The former Buckeyes linebacker has made a meteoric rise to lead the Fighting Irish at the age of 36.

The Irish hung with the high-scoring Buckeyes for most of three quarters, frustrating Heisman Trophy finalist Stroud and putting together a couple of first-half scoring drives.

"We battled for 2 1/2 quarters, but then they scored with 17 seconds left in the third and we didn't respond," Freeman said.

Ohio State's defense, too generous against the run last season, put the clamps on the Irish and new starting quarterback Tyler Buchner in the second half.

"We were called soft all last year and we had to sit there and just eat," Ohio State defensive back Lathan Ransom said.

How quickly the Buckeyes would pick up a scheme that is considered more complicated and multiple than the one they have been running was an open question.

Looked good in Game 1. The Irish managed just 253 yards and punted on their last six possessions. Tommy Eichenberg had two of Ohio State's three sacks.

"We got a lot to prove. And everyone just played extremely confident, too," Eichenberg said.

The Irish D could only hold up for so long.
